

The Invincible Flem D. Sampson

The Charges of Impeachment Dismissed

CHARGES OF HIS ENEMIES NOT SUSTAINED

It will be interesting to Judge Sampson's many friends to know that on last Monday at 10 o'clock the Committee of the Senate who were appointed to hear Charges preferred against Judge Sampson by a bunch of 'Possum faced, low grade politicians, or rather vultures, who would suffer as keenly as any brute is capable of bearing to have done Judge Sampson the injustice of wrenching from him what the people of the Thirty-fourth Judicial District of Kentucky, by their votes, said he was entitled to, dismissed the charges against him.

There is not, within the confines of the grand old State a cleaner, more impartial Judge, or able Jurist, than Judge Sampson. This bunch of Shysters from Pine Knot, and possibly one or two others from Williamsburg, and one from Pineville, some of whom wanted to preside as Judge, others who had undertaken to dictate, not only to Judge Sampson, but to the majority of the citizens and taxpayers of McCreary County, where their County Seat should be. The vote has been taken twice in this matter and Whitley City has won each time and this bunch of fellows who preferred the charges have each time been defeated. This matter came up as a result of Whitley City being made the county seat of that County. Judge Sampson has been fully vindicated and this bunch has been branded as they should have been, as unworthy of belief.

Judge Sampson will preside as Judge of the Thirty-fourth District until his term expires, and then if he wants it again the voters of the Thirty-fourth District will elect him again.

This Committee that investigated the charges against Judge Sampson were all Democrats, but they were men of good sense and judgment, and honest as are all good Kentuckians, who want to do the right thing by all, this Committee was made up, we say of gentlemen of the highest type, and could see through the whole thing as fast as these Gentlemen (?) from Pine Knot could belch forth their vile epithets for they were so unreasonable that no one of common sense would believe them.

From the Committee's Report published in the Lexington Leader, we publish the following paragraph: "There is not a scintilla of testimony to show that any of his decisions have been corrupt or that he has been influenced improperly by the use of railroad passes or by any other means. Where he has gone beyond the law it has been under very aggravating circumstances. He has but a short time to serve in office, his term expires January 1, 1916; a great majority of the people living in his district are law-abiding, intelligent citizens, and are capable of selecting honest, responsible and competent officials. There is nothing to show that the election machinery in the district is controlled or dominated by him."

A special from Frankfort, of January 9th, to the Louisville Herald, says: "Chairman Elwood Hamilton, for the committee, filed in the House a report advising against instituting impeachment proceedings against Judge Flem D. Sampson, of the Thirty-fourth Judicial District. The charges brought against the accused jurist were in no wise sustained by the evidence brought out at the hearings of the members seated.

"The reading of the report required half an hour. At its conclusion the House voted unanimously that no impeachment charges be brought."

IN SENATE

Regular Session 1914;
Senate Bill No. 237;
Monday Feb. 2, 1914.

Mr. Bosworth introduced the following bill, which was ordered to be printed and referred to the Committee on Constitutional Amendments, viz:

AN ACT to regulate the employment of convicts pending the vote of the people of this Commonwealth on an amendment to authorize convicts to work on public roads of this Commonwealth.

WHEREAS, the constitutional amendment authorizing the employment of convict inmates of the penitentiary and reformatory of this State to work upon the construction and improvement of road highways and bridges received over 50,000 votes, showing that the greater number of the voters in this Commonwealth, as in many other States, are in favor of the employment of convicts in road building; and

WHEREAS, more than 90 per cent of the counties voting upon said constitutional amendment endorsed it; and,

WHEREAS, said constitutional amendment only failed of adoption through a legal technicality, which necessitates its re-submission to the people; and,

WHEREAS, if the constitutional amendment had been adopted it could not have become immediately operative because of existing contracts for the labor of convicts; and,

WHEREAS, if the Prison Commissioners shall renew such contracts, and said constitutional amendment shall be adopted it would not become operative for eight years, by reason of the existence of such contracts, and to relieve and prevent the Board of Prison Commissioners from having to renew said Prison contracts; and

WHEREAS, the contract system for working convicts is now almost universally regarded as obsolete, unwise and inhumane, and there is generally being substituted therefor in the various States the working of convicts upon the public roads for State use, and for State account upon the piece price plan wholly under State officials, and employees; and,

WHEREAS, under existing conditions for the present in this Commonwealth, it is impractical to work the convicts on public roads or for State use; therefore,

Be it enacted by the General

Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

§ 1. That the Prison Commissioners of the Commonwealth of Kentucky are prohibited from extending or renewing any existing contract, or entering into contract or contracts for the employment of the inmates of the State Reformatory or Penitentiary until the question of the employment of the convict labor for road and bridge purposes is determined by the voters of the Commonwealth.

§ 2 That pending the action of the voters of this Commonwealth upon the constitutional amendment to employ convicts on road making, the Prison Commissioners shall employ the inmates in the State account on the piece price plan, with a provision in such contracts as they shall be worked instructed and superintended by others and employed by the State; in no case shall any arrangements or contract for the employment of the inmates include over 100 on any one class, kind or kindred industry, so that the employment shall be diversified, and said employment shall be in line of instructive labor that will teach an inmate a complete trade, and in which the maximum of hand work and the minimum of machine work shall be utilized.

All Acts and parts of Acts in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

DIED

Everett Smith, age 17 years, son of Campbell Smith, died near the depot last Thursday morning at 1:30 o'clock. He was a student of the Baptist Institute, and about two weeks ago some boys, through fun, turned the hose on him, and he took pneumonia. All was done for the young man that could be done, but all could not save him. He was attended by Dr. T. W. Jones of this place, and Dr. Brock, of London, but they were too late in calling the physicians, they could not save him.

His remains were taken to his home, near London, Ky., where he will be buried tomorrow.

Hon. Sawyer A. Smith, Asst. U. S. Dist. Attorney.

Mr. Smith is the attorney who represented Judge Sampson in the impeachment proceedings at Frankfort last week, which resulted in a verdict in favor of Judge Sampson. Mr. Smith handled this case with a great deal of skill and he, having once served in the Legislature, gave him many advantageous points in which to work. This is certainly a victory for both, Mr. Smith and his client.

SYNOPSIS.

Tommy North, returning to his room in Mrs. Moore's boarding house at 230 a. m., discovers the body of Capt. John Hanska, another roomer, with a knife wound on his breast. Suspicion rests upon a man giving the name of Lawrence Wade, who had called on Hanska in the evening and had been heard quarreling with Hanska. During the excitement a strange woman who gives her name as Rosalie LeGrange, appears and takes into her own home across the street all of Mrs. Moore's boarders, including Miss Estrilla, an invalid, who was confined to the room she occupied and whose brother was a favorite among the other boarders. Wade is arrested as he is about to leave the country. Mrs. LeGrange, who, while playing her trade as a trance medium, had aided Police Inspector Martin McGee several times, calls at his office to tell what she knows of the crime. While she is there, Constance Hanska, widow of the murdered man, whose existence had been unknown, appears. Mrs. Hanska, says she had left her husband and discloses the fact that Wade represented her and visited Hanska on the night of the murder in an effort to settle their affairs. She admits Wade was in love with her. Wade is held by the coroner's jury for the death of Hanska.

CHAPTER V.—Continued.

"Well, then I suppose there's no use askin'," went on Rosalie, "why you do it. It's because there's nothing else to do. Your play is to find something just as absorbent and as excitin' as liquor, but not quite so foolish."

"Sure!" said Tommy. "The pot of gold at the end of the rainbow, or Captain Kidd's treasure. Anyhow, I'm going away from here."

"Now, Mr. North," said Rosalie, "there's two ways of facing a thing down—stay, an' go. Which is better, I don't know. Which is braver, I do. Here's a room for you. Board here the rest of this week—on me—while you look around—an' if you think then that goin's the best way, then go."

Tommy North, lured to an atmosphere wherein none gives something for nothing, regarded Rosalie LeGrange with a look in which gratitude struggled with suspicion.

"You're thinkin'," responded Rosalie, reaching out to seize his thought, "that this is just my plan to fill my boardin' house. Think it if you want to. But this is my proposition: You keep this room free until Monday, an' if you want, you can have it permanent at twelve a week, which is what you paid Mrs. Moore."

"I'm sure I'm much obliged," said Tommy, suspicion departing. "I'll stay the week out, and make up my mind."

"Sensible," replied Rosalie. "I'll send up towels—and dinner's at six-thirty."

We have taken little time to consider Betsy-Barbara. Let us view her now, as she stands, dressed in a blue frock for dinner, tapping at Constance's door. Betsy-Barbara's flesh and spirit were twenty-four; her heart was eighteen; her purpose was forty. Whenever even the darkest ray touched her hair, it flickered with gold. In full sunshine, even her brows and lashes glittered and twinkled. Her mouth was large and generously irregular; her nose was small and whimsically irregular; her violet-blue eyes were as clear as pools. As she stood there, waiting for Constance to rise and open the door, her merriment took flame from some sleepy remark. In that precise psychological moment, all planted by the fates, Tommy North came down the hall on his way to dinner. The laugh arrested him dead.

"Yes, I Guess I'll Stay."

The door opened then. She vanished like a golden fairy caught in a mist of vapor.

A minute later, Tommy North was sitting in the dining room at Rosalie's right—waiting for something. He found himself in a state of embarrassment uncommon with him. What was he that he should talk to a decent girl? And would she know that he was—the branded? But when, a moment later, she trailed in behind Constance like a luminous shadow, when Rosalie introduced them both by name, and when he recognized them as the women in the Hanska affair, one part of his embarrassment floated away.

Twice during the dinner he laughed uproariously, causing Miss Harding to remark that he was getting back his spirits, anyhow. This was when Betsy-Barbara ventured a mild joke. Twice again she included him in the conversation. Once she asked for the butter, which impelled him to reach frantically for the salt, and once she referred to him the question whether one could reach City hall, Brooklyn, sooner by trolley or by subway, where at he got temporary reputation as a joker by answering "both." He sat dazed through the soup, ecstatic through the roast, and rapt through the desert. Only when Betsy-Barbara and Constance rose together, did he remember that he had finished long ago.

At the door of the dining room next morning, Rosalie LeGrange met Mr. North.

"Thought my proposition over?" she asked.

"Yes, I guess I'll stay," replied Tommy, shortly.

"Thought you would," replied Rosalie. And as she entered before him, she was smiling into the air. Decidedly, she was enriching her life in these days with vicarious troubles, but also with vicarious joys.

CHAPTER VI.

Twin Stars.

Another week has passed, and the police still report "no progress" on the Wade-Hanska murder case, now a back number with the newspapers—a story laid aside. The week has been equally quiet at the select boarding house maintained by Rosalie LeGrange—a quiet overlain with gloom and yet illumined with human sympathy and even gaiety.

Out of the shadows twinkle two stars—Betsy-Barbara and Tommy North. Rosalie in jest, and Professor Noll in earnest, call Betsy-Barbara "the little household fairy." Engaged though she is in a tragic guardianship, she is also young and sprightly and a village girl fresh to the wonder of New York. Rosalie is the quiet force, but Betsy-Barbara the visible focus, which draws them all together. She asks counsel of Miss Harding and Miss Jones on her autumn clothes. In her spare moments she sews industriously with Rosalie LeGrange—dropping meantime those confidences which flow at sewing-bees. The orphan of a country clergyman and a schoolmistress, she has at her finger-tips all the arts of play. Whenever the household stays in of nights, she gathers them together over hearts or bridge; when cards grow stale, she is capable of getting continuous fun out of charades or anagrams.

More and more the boarders take to staying at home. This charming life domestic is a novelty in New York, it seems; they revel in the fact. Mr. Estrilla has developed a way of joining them after his evening visits to his sister; and he brings such a spirit of Latin gaiety that they quit their formal games, and take always to music and conversation when he enters. Rosalie especially delights in him. He has a quick turn of the tongue which matches her own; and they fence with good-natured repartee. Whenever Estrilla enters the room his eyes travel to Betsy-Barbara and they two play in a boy-and-girl spirit very charming and amusing—to every one but Tommy North. All speak well of Estrilla. "I guess he's a regular man all right. If he is a wop," says even Tommy.

Miss Estrilla alone never joins the group downstairs. Though her eyes are better, though she can bear some light, she shows a state of debility puzzling to her physician and alarming to her watcher and attendant, Rosalie LeGrange. The doctor advises her to return to a warmer climate before the New York winter sets in—like all transplanted Latins, she is a very shivery person. She answers that she cannot; her brother's business lies in New York, and she would be unhappy away from him.

The time came when Rosalie LeGrange determined to visit Inspector McGee; she wished to unload some theories of her own concerning the Hanska case. Such visits must be made with all due precaution of secrecy. She chose an evening when, as happened seldom nowadays, nearly all the boarders had engagements elsewhere. As a step preliminary to her diplomacies, she telephoned to McGee and made with him an appointment far from the office. Then she approached Betsy-Barbara.

"It's asking a lot of you, my dear," she said, "but I've been so busy gettin' this place shook together that I haven't had time to mind my own affairs. I've a cousin in town an' I just haven't had time to pay her any attention. Miss Estrilla is kind of nervous tonight, an' I hate to leave her alone until her brother comes—anyhow, he misses some evenings. Just sit by her—an' if he shows up you don't have to do even that."

Betsy-Barbara accepted the new responsibility.

"I'd love it," she said almost cheerfully. "Constance is going to try to get some sleep tonight, and I'll put her to bed right after dinner. And I've been dying to meet Miss Estrilla."

Miss Estrilla's appearance appealed at once to Betsy-Barbara's quick sympathies. Her eyes were shaded; further she wore heavy colored glasses. She was a rather tall and slender woman, Betsy-Barbara decided. There was a kind of exquisite shyness about her which blended perfectly with a punctilious Spanish courtesy. She spoke English without a trace of her brother's amusing roll.

Betsy-Barbara, when the ice was broken, chattered girl-fashion on the events of the day in the boarding house, avoiding always the subject of the tragedy which had drawn them together. "I've brought up the evening paper," she said, "wouldn't you like to have me read it to you? There's a splendid elopement in high life."

"I should like it very much," replied Miss Estrilla, after a pause at which Betsy-Barbara wondered.

Betsy-Barbara read the headlines and rendered in full the stories which Miss Estrilla indicated. She was absorbed in the account of a splendid burglary, when a knock sounded at the door. And Estrilla entered.

As he recognized her with a bow of inimitable attention and courtesy, as he crossed the room and tenderly kissed his sister, Betsy-Barbara had, somehow, the feeling that she was meeting a stranger. For the first time, at any rate, she expressed him to herself. He was small—but she had always noticed that obvious fact. Looking at the figure on the bed, one would have called the sister the taller of the two. He was nevertheless perfectly formed. He had a plume of black hair which glimmered in the gaslight with a dusky reflection of Betsy-Barbara's native gold-and-satin turban.

She sat for five minutes, while brother and sister made her the focus of their conversation. But she was not amused. In the presence of his sister, Estrilla appeared a different man from the light fencer with words of their evenings downstairs. He was grave; he was formal. It was puzzling, but a little fascinating, this change.

In five minutes more, Betsy-Barbara summoned tact to the aid of manners and maiden modesty. She invented an excuse to shield herself against Spanish politeness, and left Estrilla bowing grave at the threshold.

The house seemed deserted. It was too late to venture forth alone; yet, somehow, the mere exercise of the vague black visages which began to surround her—she who must keep courage for two. Also, something which she could not analyze was stirring disquiet in her soul.

"If I only had some work!" she said to herself, and sighed again. So meditating, she wandered aimlessly downstairs. The floors of the parlor were open; the lights were on; the baby-grand piano stood open, inviting.

"Only merry tunes, though," she warned herself as she sat down. And she started the liveliest jig she knew. Presently, she began to sing in her pleasant untutored voice, which wobbled entrancingly whenever she got out of the middle register. But music is the slave of moods. And before she was aware, her voice was following the strings in old and melancholy love-songs.

Then Betsy-Barbara dropped her hands from the keys, and the music stopped abruptly. She was just aware that a fine fluting tenor had been humming the part from the doorway. Senior Estrilla stood looking down on her.

"My seester has gone to sleep," he said. And then, "Titi is a Scotch song, is it not? Please go on." Betsy-Barbara smiled, nodded, resumed her keys; and they sang together.

When the song was finished, Estrilla leaned on the piano and looked down at Betsy-Barbara. His mood seemingly had changed; it was his whim to talk.

"They are a little bold on the surface, those Scotch love-songs," he said, "though warm beneath, like a volcano. Now we who speak Spanish—we can throw our emotions to the surface."

"Don't you think," responded Betsy-Barbara, "that to confess it—but to show it's there—is the more wonderful way after all?"

The blood of the MacGregors in Betsy-Barbara was calling her to the defense of her own.

"Do you happen to know any of our Spanish songs?" pursued Estrilla.

"Only Juanita, I think—and La Paloma."

Estrilla looked as though he might have laughed but for Spanish politeness.

"Those are Spanish for outside consumption, as when the English call your cheap—oil-cloth is it not—'American cloth.' Let me sing to you—but a Spanish song does not go well with the piano—"

"There's a guitar over in the alcove," announced Betsy-Barbara.

"Far-seeing maiden!" exclaimed Estrilla with such a delicious Spanish roll on the vowels that Betsy-Barbara laughed a little; and he, as though understanding, laughed with her.

So he tuned the guitar, Betsy-Barbara finding the key for him on the piano. And while he tweaked the strings, he made comment on them, as:

"This—you hear—is the angel-string. It is for celestial harmonies. One cannot go wrong on this string; but it is too fine and high to make all our music. This is the man-string. You can go very right or very wrong on this one." "Thees one," he pronounced it; and he drew out the vowels as though lingering on the thought. "This is the woman-string. Listen—how discordant now! I tune it to the man-string, for I am God of this little world—and now how beautiful!"

"You are talking poetry!" said Betsy-Barbara; and thought of the phrase as somewhat awkward.

"Ah, but I am inspired!" replied Estrilla.

"He surely doesn't mean me," thought Betsy-Barbara, "that would be too delicious!" However, he was looking not at her but at the guitar.

He strummed little shimmering chords as he spoke. He fell to silence, but still the languorous music quivered from the guitar. Betsy-Barbara turned about on the piano stool, her hands folded lightly in her lap, her eyes cast down.

It was many years before Betsy-Barbara, looking back over everything, could analyze the feeling of that moment, could put it in its true relation to herself and her life. At the time, she knew only that she sat there impassive, embarrassed, but inert, that she felt shame yet also a furtive pleasure at the steady look of those caressing eyes. It lasted only a moment.

The outer door slammed violently. Betsy-Barbara started as though caught in something guilty. She hesitated a moment for fear of showing her feelings to Estrilla. Then she walked out into the hall. There was no one in sight. That seemed curious, since the hall stairs were not carpeted, and one could hear footsteps. It was as though some one had opened the front door and then quickly closed it again without entering. When she turned back, puzzled, she felt the necessity for explanation.

"I thought it might be Miss Harding," she said, falsely—"I wanted to see her."

He only smiled the same caressing smile. But the spell was cracked; and Betsy-Barbara herself completed the break. Half an hour later she winged a hint, which he caught mid-course, as he seemed to catch every delicate shaft of meaning. He rose and bade her a formal good night. "I hope I may sing with you again," he said at parting.

Betsy-Barbara went to her own room. She dwelled over her preparations for undressing, making a dozen starts and stops. She was not sleepy;

THIS WOMAN'S SICKNESS

Quickly Yielded To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Baltimore, Md.—"I am more than glad to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I suffered dreadful pains and was very irregular. I became alarmed and sent for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly until I was without a cramp or pain and felt like another person, and it has now been six months since I took any medicine at all. I hope my little note will assist you in helping other women. I now feel perfectly well and in the best of health."—Mrs. AUGUST W. KONIGER, 1632 Hollins Street, Baltimore, Md.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Not interested. "Are you interested in the Hetch Hetchy affair?" "No, indeed. I prefer the tango."

A Discrimination. "Does your husband play cards for money?" "I don't think so," replied young Mrs. Torkins. "But those who play with him do."

Or Baby-Ionian. The baby in the Little Broadway (nee Evanston avenue) home was slow about learning to talk and his aunt was deploring that fact. Four-year-old Elizabeth listened anxiously. "Oh, mother," she ventured at length, "do you think he'll grow up English? We couldn't any of us understand him if he turned out to be French!"

NEW WAY TO PRESERVE EGGS

System That Is Said to Have Advantages Over Methods of Refrigerating or Pickling.

A new agent for the preservation of eggs has been found in Switzerland, which has many advantages over refrigeration and pickling, according to United States Consul-General R. E. Mansfield, stationed at Zurich, Switzerland.

"The preservative," Mr. Mansfield explains, "consists of a prepared substance of adhesive character, the ingredients of which may be easily and cheaply obtained in any country. The process of preservation is very simple: A flat vessel of about 100 quarts is filled to half its capacity with the preserving agent, into which the eggs are dipped for two minutes and then allowed to dry. For the dipping process the eggs are placed in flat wire baskets, each with a capacity of 300 to 500 eggs. One basket is dipped after another, and by employing a larger vessel several baskets may be dipped simultaneously. In this manner two or three persons can dip 200,000 eggs per day."

Eggs are overhauled before shipment, so that very little time is lost in dipping them in the solution during this operation, as they dry very quickly and are almost immediately ready for repacking. No special machinery is required, and the new agent is guaranteed to preserve the eggs for nine months, causing them to retain their freshness, weight, transparency, appearance, smell and taste.

Were They Sarcastic? An English writer has just discovered some new peculiar epithets. There are two which were either unconsciously humorous or intended to be bitterly sarcastic:

Maria Brown, wife of Timothy Brown, aged eighty years. She lived with her husband 50 years, and died in the confident hope of a better life.

Here lies Bernard Lightfoot, who was accidentally killed in the forty-fifth years of his age. This monument was erected by his grateful family.

Quite the Contrary. "Well, did Bibbles enjoy his fishing trip?"

"Yes. He says he had a corking good time."

"Umph! I know Bibbles. He means he had an uncorking good time."

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Director of Evening Department, the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

LESSON FOR FEBRUARY 15.

CHRIST'S HATRED OF SHAMS.

LESSON TEXT—Luke 11:27-34.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Be not deceived; God is not mocked."—Gal. 6:7.

This is a strange breakfast episode (to "dine" means literally, to breakfast). Jesus accepted three such invitations from the Pharisees and was accused of being a glutton and a wine bibber, Matt. 11:19; Luke 7:36, 39, 44. In this instance we are told plainly (v. 54) why he had been asked to this feast. At a later time, e. g., during the Passover week, Jesus delivered a special discourse against the Pharisees (Matt. 23) in which he repeated many of the things we study today.

Must Be Clean.

I. False vs. True Cleanliness (vv. 37-44). The orthodox Jew is very punctilious to avoid ceremonial uncleanness. In Christ's time this ceremonialism was at its highest development. To be defiled was far worse than to be morally unclean. This Pharisee "marveled" that Jesus was not likewise concerned with his outward acts (v. 39, so also Matt. 23:25, 26). To have a clean cup and platter was more important than to have a clean heart. In a fragment of Gospel found at Oxyrhynchus, Jesus is reputed to have said to a Pharisee: "Thou hast washed in waters wherein dogs and swine have been cast, and wiped the outside skin which also harlots anoint and beautify, but within they are full of scorpions and all wickedness. But I have been dipped in the waters of eternal life which come from the throne of God." Pious platters, presented in pride, must be inwardly purified.

Jesus pronounces three "woes," griefs that like an avenging nemesis hang over men of such a character. (1) A "woe" against those who make a show of tithing the common garden mint and herbs and at the same time avoid the weightier matters of just relations to their fellow men and love to God (v. 42). We are not to neglect our churchly duties at all, but these cannot be substituted for righteousness (see Micha 6:8). (2) A "woe" against those who love the places of pre-eminence (v. 43, cf. Matt. 23:6, 7). This spirit has not departed from the church after a lapse of centuries. It is unchristian, unchristlike. The great one must be the servant of all (Matt. 23:11, 20:28, John 13:14, 15, Phil. 2:5-8). (3) (v. 43). The third "woe" is directed against hypocrisy. To touch a grave was to become unclean, and hence they were white-washed to give men warning. Many Christians are without beautiful to behold, yet within full of dead men's bones and all manner of uncleanness.

The Three Woes.

II. Real vs. Sham Lives (vv. 45-54). The lawyers were the theologians, the expounders of the Mosaic law. Evidently the words of Jesus produced great conviction. The word "reproachest" (v. 45) means "to entreat spitefully," and the probabilities are that he spoke to Jesus as if to rebuke him. Jesus at once pronounces three woes upon him and his class. (1) A "woe" because they laid burdens upon others which they themselves would not even touch with one of their fingers (Matt. 23:4). That is, they added to the law minute and troublesome details, which they declared to be more important than the law itself. (2) (v. 47) A "woe" is pronounced upon them for honoring the dead prophets and at the same time rejecting and persecuting those that were living. To honor dead teachers, to praise the prophets of the past, those whom we cannot endure while living, is a form of hypocrisy which costs but little. It implies that had they lived in the days of their fathers their conduct would have been indifferent, yet they are with the living prophets, following the example of their fathers. God foresaw this (v. 49) and the faithful minister of his word must expect a like treatment (Mk. 10:29, 30). (3) (v. 12) The third "woe" was pronounced against these religious teachers because, possessing the key to knowledge, they neither entered themselves nor would they allow others to enter; "ye enter not in yourselves, neither suffer ye them that are entering in to enter." (Matt. 23:13, Am. 9:1). These lawyers, theologians, were professionally interpreters of the law, that law which was the foundation and bulwark of the Jewish nation. In fact, however, they had so obscured and "explained" that law as to leave men in darkness. Supposed to lead men into truth, they were shutting them out of the truth. What a terrible indictment of many of this present age.

We quote from the letter of a Wisconsin business man: "The average man is interested in the teachings of the Bible. If the Bible cannot stand upon its own feet, it is foolish to bolster it up by any personal ideas. We make too many apologies for Scriptures and do not stand squarely by what it teaches." Not a few who occupy the position of teachers obscure the truth of God and they shut men out of a real knowledge of him. Jesus thus replies to both Pharisees and the lawyer, that character is not a garment to wear, but it is the inward furnishing of the heart.

The Valentine

By WILBUR D. NEBBIT

In days of old a valentine
Was made of parchment, fold on fold,
And in quaint language: "I am thine,"
Was the soft message that it told.
'Twas written in a stately style
And ornamented with a scroll,
And vowed her beauty could beguile
A monkish soul.

Then later came the flowered things,
Bedecked with curls and with doves
Which bore upon their spreading wings
The burden of undying loves.
Ah, such impassioned lyrics, too,
Concealed from undusted gaze!
'Twas the accepted way to woo
In those old days.

Again the fashion changed, and then,
Mildly fair must have a fan,
Or fine remembrance sent her when
A valentine she needs must scan.
Anonymous—yet deftly sent
So that she knew the source full well,
And cheered or crushed the sentiment
The gift must tell.

Once more the fashion changed, and so
The valentine was changed likewise
Into a thing of sheen and show
Meant for a lovely lady's eyes.
It told of how the sender felt
When he was pierced by Cupid's dart:
The valentine whereon 'twas spelt
Looked like a heart.

Today another style is here:
The man who fain would woo and win
Assures the lady that she's dear
With quite a grim, sarcastic grin.
He sends a valentine today
Sane, sane, sans flowers and sans verse—
He speeds a missile on its way
Shaped like a purse.

LOVE IS NEVER BLIND

Little God May Do Strange Things, but His Eyesight Is of the Best.

BEFORE Miriam became engaged to marry Fred she had heard much and read more about love. "Love" is this; "love" is that; "love" is the other thing. "Love" gives all; "love" demands sacrifices; "love" spells happiness; "love" means misery, and so on through a long list of possible and impossible conditions.

Being a perfectly normal man, Fred had certain faults. Some of them were glaring, but Miriam, if she saw them at all, forgave them because she loved him.

A friend said: "Miriam, I don't see how you can endure Fred. He's so full of faults. But I suppose love is blind and you don't notice his shortcomings."

Then it was that Miriam consulted Aunt Anna.

"Is love blind, auntie, dear?" said she. "Or does it give one an insight into the real charm and goodness unseen by others?"

"That depends, child, upon the kind of love, and also upon the individual. Surely from the many 'misfits,' the many unsuitable matches we see, I am inclined to say that love is not only blind, but deaf and dumb as well."

"You remember, my dear, Jim Merlin, an avowed worshiper of beauty, married Ellen Short, one of the homeliest girls in the village. 'We see beautiful women marrying perfect frights—coarse, ignorant men—and one scarcely can pick up a paper but one sees a story of an heiress eloping with a chauffeur or groom, a boy marrying a woman old enough to be his grandmother, or a sweet young debutante selling herself to the ancient millionaire.'"

"It seems to me the only way we can account for these vagaries of sentiment is that Cupid has suddenly been struck blind, or a long-distance telescope enables him to see charms and perfections in individuals that are quite invisible to the rest of the world," replied the younger.

"Miriam, you have often said of your own friends: 'I cannot tell what on earth she sees in that man to love; he's such an impossible person.' No doubt some of your friends say the same thing of you and Fred."

"Thus we go on pondering over this mystery of love—love that comes without invitation, and sometimes goes we know not where."

"I think, dear, the truth of the matter is that love between a man and woman is purely a matter of attraction, and that neither eyesight nor judgment plays any part whatever."

"We love or we hate by instinct. It is not a matter of head, but of the heart."

"A woman may observe in a man every admirable quality, yet she cannot love him; yet the man who possesses many faults which she plainly sees may win her love without even trying to."

"Men, you know, are curious animals. One may pass by a woman who is endowed with all the virtues, the accomplishment and the charm of femininity, yet will marry a crude little butterfly of fashion with no claim either to good looks or wisdom."

AT THE VALENTINE BALL

Forgotten quite are all his clubs
Where spades are spades, all right.
He's given Belle a diamond ring
And hearts are trumps tonight.

CUPID VALENTINE

My name is Cupid Valentine,
I pose in wintry weather,
And artists call me Trilby 'cause
I pose "the altogether."

When Mary Ellen at her tub
Receives a loving line,
I whisper low in Mary's ear:
"John sent that valentine."

And when I come the poet grips
His pen and tears his hair,
And writes a sugar-coated "pome"
Unto his lady fair.

And when I chase the skating girl
In Cupid's usual dress,
The cold compels me to regret
My hapless "Trilbyness."

TIME FOR LOVING THOUGHTS

St. Valentine's Season Should Give Rise Only to the Holiest of the Sentiments.

In Oriental countries a garland of flowers is flung over the garden wall. Everywhere, all over the earth, the day, whether called St. Valentine's or not, is honored with the most beautiful sentiments—the giving of a gift of love, without the thought of a return, or even of a recognition of the gift. Let us, then, be worthy of this ancient meaning of the day, and not degrade it by sending silly verses, or ugly pictures, as valentines. There are so many graceful and tasteful things that we might do instead. There is, of course, always the pretty, dainty valentines of paper, but I know of nothing so appropriate as a few flowers. Our climate does not let many of us find wild flowers by St. Valentine's day, but we can all grow a few hyacinths in a sunny window, or have a window garden of geraniums and begonias. Little baskets can be woven of dried grasses, or of crepe paper, which, when filled with green leaves and a few blossoms, will be expressive of the real sentiments of St. Valentine's day.—Exchange.

Pretty Oldtime Custom.

In colonial days, in this country, the day was not called St. Valentine's, but it was observed. People made dainty little baskets, filled them with the earliest of spring flowers, like the trailing arbutus, and hung them on door-knobs or bell-pulls. In the old engravings which are found in the greatest profusion around Richmond, Va., and Philadelphia, one can often see the little maid of that time in a "scoop" bonnet, a flowered muslin, and demure little black mits, slipping up to the old door, with its knocker and wide "door-seat," to hang the little basket of flowers for some friend.

REVOLT

Oh, Why was I born in a stupid to-day, with the heart of a pirate of old, to wander along in a tranquil way, all pining for gold; a-pining for fights of the grimest kind, on a redly ensanguined sea, with naught to excite my adventurous mind but the thrill of a five o'clock tea?

I dream of the gleam of a falchion sword and the thunderous rattle of shot, while villainous cut-throats go climbing aboard the deck of some ill-fated yacht. I dream of a dash o'er the oozing spume of some bridge with red carnage wet, and find when I wake but the placid doom of a chat with a suffragette!

I hunger for slaughter, rapine and war; for the thrill of a brave, last stand, when up to the knee in a swelter of gore I lead on a brave command. I pine for a bout with a foeman free and a fight with the old time thrill, to find that the fiercest of bouts for me is a row o'er a tailor's bill.

Alas for the deem of a warrior heart, to live in a day like this, when a dash through the night in a gasoline cart is the height of all mortal bliss! To think of knightly soul athirst for deeds of the doughtiest sort, enchained in a time like our own accurs'd, when quarrels are settled in court!

Oh, glorious days of the spear and lance, when knightliest deeds were did! Oh, chivalrous days of ye ancient France! Oh, marvelous days of Kidd! Joy rides and teas! Oh, ye Gods! what woes for a heart by ambition scarred! Make way! I am off for to punch the nose of a militant subway guard.

A young man whose brains were quite porous With puns and p or quips used to bore us. When asked if he knew any girls, said, "A few." Then added quite slyly, "O' chere."

PRUNING GRAPE VINES

Nearly every farm and city home in Kentucky has several grape vines planted about the yard. For the most part they stand as splendid examples of what neglect will do and invariably the owner will declare that the grape is not a success in this state. The Vines have never been cultivated and more dead canes are to be found than live ones.

The terms pruning and training are very misleading to the average person. Grapes are pruned in order to reduce the amount of wood and to limit the production of fruit. The object in training grapes is to arrange the vine according to some definite system.

Grapes are vigorous growers and in order to get the best results they should be pruned heavily each year. Before starting to prune, one should remember that the fruit is borne on shoots of the present season which develop from buds borne on last season's canes. Usually not more than twenty buds should be left after the operation of pruning is completed. This will necessitate the cutting away of at least two-thirds of the vine and often more where the vine has been neglected for sometime. In removing the canes it is better to remove the weak ones and leave only the stronger ones.

Grapes may be pruned any time after the leaves drop and until the buds start to swell. It is best, however, not to prune during very cold weather or after the sap starts to flow. If the pruning is put off too long the vines will "bleed." If the bleeding is very severe it is rather detrimental to the plant, although not as bad as some people consider it.

The following system of training, known as the Kniffen, is very commonly practiced. During the first season's growth a number of canes will be produced. All of these but one should be cut away after the growing season and this should be shortened back to about four feet. Tie this to a stake. The next season a number of canes will be produced but all except four should be cut away; two should be left at a distance of two feet from the ground and two four feet from the ground.

The third season the vine should be trellised. Two posts should be placed firmly in the ground about four feet from the vine each way. Connect the posts by two heavy wires one wire two feet high, the other four feet high, and tie the lower canes to the bottom wire and the upper canes to the top wire. Shorten the canes back so that there will be about three buds to each one. The young shoots will hang down from these buds and bear fruit. It is a good plan to pinch the shoots back and allow them to bear only one or two bunches for the first year or two. In fact no vine should be allowed to bear until it is at least three years old.

The following spring cut the four old canes back to the young canes nearest the trunk and tie to the wire in the same manner as the previous season. This method should be followed every year. As the vine grows older the number of buds left upon the bearing canes may be increased from year to year.

The ground about the vines should be dug up and worked thoroughly. Make a liberal application of manure and the results will be most gratifying.

Easy to Darken Gray Hair

If your hair is gray, streaked with gray, brittle or falling, get a 7-ounce bottle of Q-BAN. Rub on your hair and scalp, like a shampoo, on retiring. By morning the gray disappears and a few more applications of Q-BAN the hair is beautifully darkened and in addition becomes fluffy, luxuriant and radiant with hair health. Q-BAN stops falling hair, promotes its growth, stops dandruff and itching scalp. Every body likes Q-BAN as it is not sticky nor a dye or stain—delightful to use and sure to beautifully darken the hair so evenly and naturally no one can tell. Only 50-cents for a 7-ounce bottle at Dr. B. F. Herndon's drug store, Barbourville, Ky. Out of town people supplied by mail.—[Advertisement.]

Timber Lands Wanted.

I want to buy a tract of from two thousand to ten thousand acres of timber land in fee, for immediate operation. If you have any land to sell write me fully giving number of acres, stating whether in solid tract or not, kind and quantity of timber per acre, on what waters, if any, distance from railroad and lowest prices per acre. Send plat or blue print if you have one. On receipt of this information if I am interested I will immediately send some one to look at the land.

James S. Larkin, 403 Capitol Street, Charleston, W. Va.

$71,000 ROBBERY

Although details have not been given out a package addressed to a local bank containing $71,000 in U. S. treasury notes was taken and a package of magazines substituted. The substitution was not found out till the package reached the bank when the cashier found the bundle of "Laff" magazines. He started to read some of the stuff and became so interested that he agreed with the bank directors to make up the loss if they would place him on the subscription list of "Laff" for life. In order to get you in a good humor and help you forget even your big troubles, domestic or financial, we will agree to send you "Laff" for one year at the ridiculously low price of fifty cents.

This National Magazine of Fun is making greater strides than any other magazine before the American public today. It is a magazine that will keep the whole family in a good humor. The staff of Laff contains artists, caricaturists, and writers who rank among the best in the country. It is highly illustrated and printed in colors. It will keep the whole family cheerful the year 'round. You can afford to spend 50c a year to do this. Send this clipping and FIFTY CENTS today to the Publishers of Laff! Dayton, Ohio, for one year's subscription. The regular price is $1.00 and we are making this SPECIAL OFFER to get acquainted.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE

By order of the Knox Circuit Court, rendered at its November term, 1913, in the case of

Milton Seair, Plaintiff,

vs.

Jack Murphey & Co., Defendant,

I will, as Commissioner, on the 23rd day of February, 1914, same being first day of the February term of the Knox County Court, sell at the Court House door in Barbourville, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder the following described property, or enough thereof to satisfy the judgment in said case, amounting to $85.80, subject to a credit of $10 paid July 20th, 1913, and $5 paid August 15th, 1913, (and cost of this action).

The land is situated in Knox county, on the Middle Fork of Stinking creek, and is bounded on the west by the land of T. G. Hammons; on the north by the lands of Dewy Hubbard; on the east and the south by the lands of T. G. Hammons.

Said property will be sold on a credit of six months, the purchaser to execute bonds with approved security, bearing interest at 6% from date until paid, having the force and effect of a judgment and retaining a lien on said property until the purchase money is paid.

Witness my hand, this 4th day of February, 1914.

W. W. BYRLEY, M. C.
Knox Circuit Court.

PERSONAL

Good afternoon, how's your vaccination?

Mr. I. M. Jarvis was in town Tuesday.

Robert W. Cole is in Frankfort
this week.

W. C. Black is out of town this week.

M. A. Gray, of Corbin, is in the city on legal business.

Editor W. H. McDonald is away from the job this week.

Miss Randa Parker Archibald is on the sick list this week.

Hear Mr. Fanning's address "Render Unto Caesar," Thursday evening
Feb. 19, 1914.

Miss Mary Mathews was down from Elys for the lyceum number as the guest of Miss Myrtle Cole.

Don't forget the Valentine Social,
given under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church, in the Hoskins building Friday night.

There will be services at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning and evening. Your attendance will be appreciated.

Miss Sibyl Lewis, of Union College, who has been visiting homefolks at Teddars, returned to this city monday.

Mr. S. A. Jones, of Williamsburg
Institute, was calling on Miss Lucy Taylor Sunday.

"RENDER UNTO CAESAR"—Plan to hear it,—Thursday evening, Feb. 19 1914, at the Court-house. No admission fee—free will offering.

The report is that Mr. G. E. Ver-million, of this city, who was badly injured on their construction work, at Irvine, Ky., about two weeks ago is still improving.

Mr. Jim McAfee, of Ewing, Va., was calling on his best girl, Miss Bell Bartols, here Sunday.

Arthur T. Vermilion has been going downhill ever since his girl, Miss Hilda Fisher, got married. It is thought he is improving some now.

The other day while passing through the town of Baileys Switch a girl smiled at Frank Richardson and he has not slept a wink since.

Mrs. Lora Brewer, of Boreing, is visiting her sister, Mrs. L. R. Benjamin, of this city.

Hon. M. J. Fanning, of Philadelphia, Pa., a lecturer of national reputation, will deliver his Great Patriotic Address "RENDER UNTO CAESAR," Thursday evening, Feb. 19 1914, in the Court-house. As it is not the good fortune of every community to be able to secure such lecturers as Mr. Fanning often it should be a pleasure to the people of Barbourville and surrounding vicinity to crowd the court room to it, full capacity. No admission fee.

Try the ADVOCATE a year—$1.00

Mrs. Bettie Cain, of Gray, was in town visiting her daughter, Mrs. M.
Freeman, the first of this week.

is sick with typhoid fever, in the Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington, Ky.

At the Valentine Social there will be—ice cream and cake—10cts,
Salad, wafers and hot chocolate 10cts, besides candy, valentines and other things at reasonable prices.

Mr. Charles D. Cole, formerly of the editorial staff of the ADVOCATE, now Secretary and Treasurer of the Loony Creek Coal Company, Benham, Ky., visited homefolks several days of this week.

Don't miss the Hon. M. J. Fanning's lecture, "RENDER UNTO CAESAR," Thursday evening, Feb. 19
1914, at the Court-house. FREE.

J. S. Hilton, Superintendent of Christian Church Widows and Orphans' Home, of Louisville, was in our city this week and made an address at the Christian Church Tuesday evening.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFER—Mr. Alex
Sevier has recently sold to Messrs.
Godfrey and Harve Jackson one building lot each, on Manchester Street, both of whom will erect dwellings on same immediately.

Maria, said Reuben to his wife,
after having stood for several moments on a 5th Ave., corner watching the girls in their new style dresses pass by, "Maria, where do you think we can have Mary Ann vaccinated now?"

The School of Methods now in progress at the Christian Church is proving very interesting to those who attend. The attendance is not large but the daily program is well arranged and the lectures are well prepared. Mr. Frazee, Mr. Farris and Mrs. Asbury each have a special line. Mr. Frazee lectures on Organization and Pedagogy; Mr. Farris gives an each day on Evangelism, and also on Missions; Mrs. Asbury is a specialist in primary work. The subject of her lectures are Elementary work and Child Nature.

COURT NEWS

Circuit Court closed Saturday at 6:45 p. m., the Grand Jury having filed its final report. There was a great deal of work done this term considering the heavy criminal docket, it taking up the first two weeks, but Judge Sampson held court from 8 o'clock a. m., until 9:45 and 10:00
p. m. most every day, night sessions are hard on the court but more work can usually be done in the night sessions than during the day, and by this means Judge Sampson stayed right up with the docket. There were three convicted to the penitentiary, one hung jury and two acquittals. Several felonies were dismissed, the Grand Jury, however, returned more felonies than were disposed of, hence we have gained but little.

There were many civil actions tried and finally disposed of, yet several had to be continued. This term is a six weeks term but as the Mc-Creary Circuit Court must begin on the second Monday Judge Sampson had to go there to convene court, hence we only had five weeks in this term.

ORDINANCE

Be it Ordained by the Board of Council of the City of Barbour-ville:

That no person, firm or corporation shall be permitted to erect a house of any other material except brick, stone or concrete on the Public Square or within less distance than one-hundred feet therefrom, or on either side of Main Street from the public square to High street or on either side of High street from Main street to Walnut street, or on either side of Walnut street from High street to Dishman street, or on either side of Dishman street from Walnut street to River street, or on either side of River street from Dishman street to the Public Square, or on either side of Knox street from the Public Square to Depot and College streets, and no additions shall be made to any house on said streets, or within less than one-hundred feet of the Public Square, unless same are made of brick, stone or concrete, and any person violating this Ordinance shall be fined any sum not exceeding one-hundred dollars and not less than twenty-five dollars.

John W. Hughes,
Councilman.
Approved Feb 9, 1914.

J. M. Wilson, Mayor.

Attest:
Chas. G. Cole, City Clerk.

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas: We have heard with sincere regret that our highly esteemed and much loved President, Mrs. O. C. McClung, is soon to leave us and take up her residence elsewhere, Therefore be it:

Resolved, That in the removal of Mrs. McClung the Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian Church, of Barbourville, Kentucky, loses
one of its most useful and efficient members; and

Resolved, That by reason of her active and aggressive leadership as President of our Society, her wise counsel and Christian character, she has endeared herself to us all, that we feel under many obligations to her and hereby express to her our deepest gratitude; and

Resolved, That the members of this Society wish her much happiness and great usefulness in religious work in her new home; and

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Society; that they be published in both The Mountain Advocate and The Peoples News, and that a copy be sent to the President of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian Church at Jellico, Tennessee.

By order of the Ladies' Aid Society, of the Christian Church,
Barbourville, Ky.

Feb. 6, 1914.

Confirmed Proof

Residents of Barbourville Cannot Doubt
What Has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills.
Residents of this vicinity who so testified years ago, now say the results were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Barbour-ville kidney sufferers.

H. Huber, Prop. of hotel, Middleboro Ky., says: "Lame back gave me a lot of annoyance for a long time. I had a dull pain in my loins and stopping was out of the question. Mornings, my back was so lame that I could hardly get up to do my work.
Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills recommended,
I got a supply and they proved to be just as represented. They soon drove the aches and pains away. I gladly confirm the endorsement I gave in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills before."

For sale by all dealers.—Price 50cts.—

agents for the United States.

WARNING AGAINST SMALLPOX

Bowling Green, Feb. 9, 1914.
To the Health and Fiscal Officials and People of Kentucky:

Disregard of the repeated warning of this Board in regard to the danger of a wide spread epidemic of smallpox this winter is indicated by its existence in one third of the counties of the State. The disease, repeatedly stamped out in many counties, has been reintroduced in the eastern section of the State through continued disregard and violation of the law and of the rules of the board, requiring that no unvaccinated person shall be employed, on the point of railroad construction companies and other large employers of unskilled labor. Prompt prosecution by county attorneys will cause the enforcement of this rule and will save the counties of the State thousands of dollars.

More than 25,000 cases and 335 deaths have been caused from small-pox in Kentucky since 1898. The care and prevention of this disease has cost our counties and cities $625,650 and the business loss is estimated at $1,500,000. Vaccination, properly done with reliable virus and repeated every seven years, is required by law and no person who has complied with this law has had smallpox in Kentucky. It costs the average man one dollar to be vaccinated and $140 and six to fourteen weeks isolation to have smallpox. Reliable fresh vaccine points will be furnished by this Board for the use of health authorities for $6.50 per hundred, and are available at any time.

Most of our cases of smallpox are mild but at best it is a loathsome disease. It is easy to prevent and it is unlawful not to be vaccinated.
In the presence of its present widespread existence in the State intelligent people should not wait for the law to force them to an evident duty.
Law abiding people have already or will now be vaccinated. Others should be required to do so by the proper authorities.

By order of the Board:
John G. South, M. D. President.
A. T. McCormack, M. D. Secretary.

JUICE has accomplished for me." That is the verdict of hundreds of women.
You'll say the same thing when you know what it means to be free from your burden of misery and ills and aches and nervousness.

You haven't any idea of the grand things this wonderful medicine is accomplishing for weak women. The glorious results cannot be described. The relief must be felt to be truly appreciated.

No wonder women say "I could scream with joy." Such relief and comfort is too great to be unproclaimed.

You know what it means to drag yourself about day after day, miserable, half sick, tired, worn, weak, despondent, discouraged, blue, with no interest in things, no ambition, no energy. You know what it means to feel your nerves buzzing screaming, all on edge, seeming to rob your brain of its power to think and feeling that you will simply go mad. You know what it means to suffer the pains and aches and discomforts of your sex—those awful feelings that no one but a woman can understand.

Now think! How will you feel when all this has vanished? How will you feel when wonderful ROOT JUICE has relieved you of these symptoms—when you can go about your duties full of vim and energy and find each task a pleasure? How will you feel to be free from dragging aches and pains, free from that terrible nervous tension and to feel well and strong in mind and body—just like your old self again?

Try it. Try ROOT JUICE for ten days on a positive guarantee, a guarantee mind you, that means money back instantly if you are not perfectly delighted with the results. It's easy to take, tastes good,
and a better medicine for weak, worn-out, run-down men and women was never made. Don't let anybody talk you out of it. Try ROOT JUICE this time.
You'll be thankful the longest day you live. All first class drug stores sell ROOT JUICE one dollar per large bottle and they guarantee it—relief or money back instantly.

Having reduced the price of eggs,
women are now going to tackle apples. We recall, however, that woman's first transgression was in apples, and she traded Paradise for a red one.

UNION WINS ANOTHER

On last Saturday night the Union College Basketball team dedicated its new gymnasium with a victory over Eastern Kentucky State Normal, of Richmond, by a score of 24 to 8. at no time was the outcome of the game in doubt, the contest was characterized by much roughness and fouling and because of this our boys were unable to play up to their usual standard. A good crowd saw and enjoyed this game.
The boys appreciate this patronage and also the kindness of friends which has made their gymnasium possible.

POLICY HELD TO BE EXTRAVAGANT

MAJOR CRITICISM FOR STATE UNIVERSITY IN REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

PRAISE MIXED WITH BLAME

Suggested That Scientific Farming and Agricultural Training Be Confined To Experiment Station—Probers Into Charges Against Judge Sampson Find Fault But Do Not Recommend Impeachment.

(By Ernest W. Helm.)

Frankfort, Ky.—Various matters for criticism are set out in the report of the senate investigation committee on its inquiry into affairs at State university, though it is said that in part conditions are better than in the past. Discipline is held to be lax and buildings uncleanly. Extravagance is charged.

The report says: "The university pays a woman living in Lexington for delivering 35 lectures a year of one hour's length each at a salary of $1,000. Recently a bookkeeper was hired and paid at the rate of $3 an hour for 600 hours, a total of $1,800. Eighty-seven instructors in the university proper, with salaries aggregating $129,912.88, devote on an average but three hours and twelve minutes a day to instruction.

Dual Compensation Condemned.

"A bad practice prevails of allowing one person to draw several salaries, and a much worse practice is also in vogue of allowing persons employed by the university to be engaged and draw substantial salaries outside the university, and even in some instances of allowing persons who draw large salaries from the university to prosecute their private business. This, we think, can not be too strongly condemned. We are impressed with the idea that those in charge of the university are making an earnest effort to improve conditions.

"From our investigation we believe the teaching of scientific farming and agricultural training should be confined to the State Agricultural Experiment Station, where the equipment is adequate and the efficiency all that could be desired."

The committee reported on the Normal and Industrial Institute for Negroes. Friction in the management is deprecated, but conduct of the institution is praised.

Report in Sampson Case.

The house impeachment committee recommended that "no articles of impeachment be brought against Judge Flem D. Sampson," of the thirty-fourth judicial district. The house concurred in the report without a dissenting vote. It is set forth in the report that "there is not a scintilla of testimony to show that any of his decisions have been corrupt, or that he has been influenced improperly by the use of railroad passes, or by any other means." Continuing, the report says: "The testimony in this case shows that Judge Sampson has been guilty of practices for which he should be severely condemned. His conduct has not at all times been with that high sense of judicial ethics and probity that should generally characterize a state judiciary. His conduct has not been such as to reflect credit either on himself or his district, nor has he deported himself in such a manner as to entirely keep or to merit the confidence of his people."

Committee's Ideal Jurist.

"A judge should so conduct himself that the respect for the judicial branch of our government would amount to reverence. This confidence has in most cases been deserved and maintained by the men occupying judicial positions in this state. A judge should be the personification of integrity, of honor and of uprightness in his walk and conversation. He should hold his exalted office and the administration of justice above the sordid desire to accumulate wealth. He should be free and unaffected by any bias born of avarice and unhampered by improper obligations. There is nothing in the report, however, to show that this judge has prostituted his high judicial office for personal profit or that he has attempted in any way to commercialize his potentiality as a judge."

Investigation Called Off.

The proposed legislative investigation of the penal conditions in Kentucky has been called off. The prison labor contractors at the Kentucky reformatory decided not to make a formal complaint. They were advised by their attorneys that the legislature was without authority to grant the relief sought.

Petitions Are Read.

Six petitions were read asking for the passage of the Glenn bill to increase the powers of the Insurance Rating Board. Three were received opposing the measure. A number of petitions favoring the passage of a law prohibiting steel traps to catch fur-bearing animals on the property of another without permission were filed. The senate and house unanimously passed the bill providing for the manner of electing United State Senators by popular vote.

Appeal Bill Is Passed.

A bill of Representative McNally, of Louisville, giving the right of appeal in all criminal cases in inferior courts, except in the Louisville Police Court, was passed.

The anti-loan shark bill was reported favorably. The measure exempting motor vehicles from a city license tax received a favorable report.

Representative McNally's bill providing that an accident or health insurance policy may not be canceled without the consent of the insured, unless procured by fraud, went in the orders of the day.

The bill providing for the appointment of county boards of health comprising three physicians, the county judge and the county attorney, was reported favorably. The measure empowers the board to erect hospitals for the isolation of such diseases as tuberculosis and the hookworm and to abolish the local boards of health.

Tobacco Marketing Act.

Senator Overstreet introduced a bill requiring tobacco warehouse men, handling loose leaf tobacco, to post the number of pounds sold and the price obtained at the close of each day's sale.

Senator Scott offered a measure that provides for the adoption of a flag for the Commonwealth of Kentucky. The flag is to be blue silk, bearing the emblem "United We Stand; Divided We Fall."

February 12 is made a legal holiday in memory of Abraham Lincoln, in a bill introduced by Senator Bagby.

Senator Porter, who has smallpox, was given an indefinite leave of absence.

Governor McCreary notified the senate that he had approved and signed the act which creates a building commission to administer funds for erecting and equipping county buildings.

Democrats To Have Banquet.

Representative Stanley F. Reed, Mason county, chairman of the Young Men's Democratic League of Kentucky, and others interested have succeeded in perfecting plans for one of the most representative gatherings of the Democrats of the state held in years. It will be marked by a banquet to be given in the Capital hotel here February 27, and plates will be provided for 250 diners. Assistant Secretary of War Henry S. Breckinridge, of Lexington, has accepted an invitation to respond to a toast at the young men's banquet. Former Gov. Joseph W. Folk, of Missouri, now, solicitor general of the United States; Dudley Field Malone, collector of the port of New York, and Johnson N. Camden, of Versailles, are also expected to deliver addresses at the banquet.

Act to Relock Prison Doors.

There seems to be no doubt that the legislature will at once begin considering a bill to amend or repeal the indeterminate sentence law. One bill to repeal the law is now pending, but a new bill will be introduced. The prison population at the Frankfort Reformatory is 1,496, of whom 1,050 are under contract in the prison shops. Two hundred are eligible to parole and it is probable that 400 more will be eligible in the next six months. Under the decision of the court of appeals requiring paroles at the end of the minimum sentence of all prisoners who have conformed to the rules of the reformatory.

Revision of Tax System.

The House has taken up in earnest the work of considering the voluminous bill looking to a revision of Kentucky's tax system. This measure, drafted by a special commission, was reported without expression of opinion by the house committee on revenue and taxation, the members of that committee being unable to agree, and as a result the house membership, as a whole, can take it up section by section. Many are of the opinion that the general assembly will be unable to agree upon any tax measure of real consequence during the present session.

CAPITAL CHAT

W. L. Spahn, of Kenton county, employed by the house as a member of the extra corps, died at a hotel.

Representative Reed's bill provides that the judges of the court of appeals and circuit judges shall be nominated in the regular primary in the same manner as other officers.

The committee on agriculture reported favorably a bill providing for the inspection of agriculture seeds and the establishment of a standard of purity, and requiring proper labeling of packages of seeds for sale.

The bill of Representative Walton, prohibiting the attorney general or his assistants or judicial officers of the commonwealth from holding employment under any public service corporation, was reported favorably.

Former Senator H. M. Froman, of Ghent, member of the state board of agriculture, and Matt Cohen, a horseman, both have authorized the announcement of their candidacy for the Democratic nomination for commissioner of agriculture.

J. A. Judy, Democrat, of Mt. Sterling, successor to the late Samuel Turley, and A. T. Bryson, Republican, of Greenup county, successor to the late Representative J. A. Scott, took the oath of office as members of the house.

GAS COMPLAINT GOES HIGHER

LEXINGTON TAKES BILLS TO ATTORNEY GENERAL CHARGING ABUSE OF POWER.

GRAND JURY INVESTIGATES

Merger of Coal Companies Will Mean Expenditure of Millions in Mountain Development—Ptomaines in Defective Provender Found To Have Caused Death of Horses and Cattle.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Lexington, Ky.—Encouragement was given those who have been complaining of their gas bills when County Attorney Hogan L. Yancey announced that he had an interview with Attorney General Garnett concerning the charges made by the gas consumers, and that he expected the attorney general to take action. Mr. Yancey declared that he believes legal steps can be taken to forfeit the charter of the gas company if it should be found to have been oppressive or unjust. He cited a constitutional and a statutory section of the state laws providing for the "forfeiture of charters of corporations guilty of abuse of powers."

The statutory section, together with the constitutional act, provides that in cases of "abuse of power the attorney general of the state shall take steps necessary for the revocation of the charter in question." The Fayette county grand jury is investigating the complaints of citizens.

MERGER MEANS DEVELOPMENT.

Whitesburg, Ky.—The consolidation of coal companies of Letcher county, including the Slemo Coal Co., the Letcher Coal Co., the Kentucky River Coal Co., and others, each owning large areas of coal lands, into one corporation has been effected.

For several weeks such an arrangement has been under advisement by the several companies. As arranged, the new corporation will expend millions in development of a number of industrial cities, similar to Jenkins, McRoberts and Fleming. Thousands will be given employment.

PTOMAINES KILL LIVE STOCK.

Lancaster, Ky.—Dr. H. L. Casey, assistant veterinary in the department of agriculture, returned to Danville from Adair county, where he went at the direction of State Commissioner of Agriculture J. W. Newman to investigate the death of eleven horses within thirty-six hours from eating defective provender. Dr. Casey found that cured feed had developed ptomaine poison. Several cases were reported to him of cattle having died in that county from the same kind of poisoning.

POULTRY EXPERT IS SECURED.

Lexington, Ky.—H. W. Rickey, of the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture, Washington, has been secured to co-operate with the experiment station in the poultry department to do poultry club work in a few counties this year and to give lectures wherever it is thought well to develop poultry interests. Mr. Rickey will work directly with farmers and farmer boys and girls in the developing of individual poultry in this rather than with commercial poultrymen. He comes to Lexington from Kingston, R. I., where he was head of poultry demonstration in the College of Agriculture.

BOONE HEIRS MAY GET CLAIM.

Winchester, Ky.—The court of claims at Washington has reported with favorable recommendation the claim of the heirs of George Boone, late of Winchester, for $2,500 as compensation for liquors taken from a tavern by federal troops in 1863. The heirs are: Henry Boone; Winchester; Cliff Boone, Kiddleville, and Sam M. Boone, of Danville.

QUICK JUSTICE DISPATCHED.

Williamstown, Ky.—Alex. McCann, negro, was tried and convicted of murder in the first degree and given a life sentence in the penitentiary. McCann was charged with killing John Bryson in a Queen & Crescent boarding car eight days ago.

TEN THOUSAND VACCINATED.

Lexington, Ky.—More than 10,000 citizens of Lexington have been vaccinated within the last two weeks, according to the statement given out by City Health Officer N. R. Simmons, who adds that the city physicians are still at work.

JURY FAILED TO AGREE.

Georgetown, Ky.—For the second time a jury failed to agree in the case of the Commonwealth against Church Barkley, charged with the murder of Dr. J. W. Davis.

ASSESSMENTS ARE INCREASED.

Lancaster, Ky.—The Lincoln county board of supervisors added $375,592 to the valuation of property as shown by the assessor's list, making a total of $7,026,871.

NEW INTERURBAN SYSTEM

Du Pont Interests Will Link Together Various Towns.

Central City, Ky.—Gen. T. C. Du Pont and his associates have announced that the street car line from Central City to Greenville and from Central City to Drakesboro will be built. The articles of incorporation show that the capital stock is to be $300,000 with an authorized indebtedness of $500,000. The line has been surveyed and work will begin as soon as weather will permit, the line from Central City to Greenville being the first that will be built, as this will take in about six towns between here and the county seat. Later a line will be constructed to Green river to connect with the large turbine power plant which is to be erected there to supply all the mines within a radius of 50 miles with power. The men who will build the interurban also plan to build the power plant and they will secure their fuel from the 30 mines which their line will reach.

SPLITWORM PREVENTION

Department of Agriculture Gives Advice as to Tobacco Pest.

Lexington, Ky.—Advance excerpts of an agricultural bulletin on "How To Prevent the Tobacco Splitworm" have been received here. Transplant the tobacco crop as early as possible in order to mature it before the appearance of the most destructive generation of the tobacco splitworm. The bulletin advises, when the early infestation is very severe, it is recommended that the infected leaves be primed off and destroyed; also, destroy all tobacco stubble as soon as the crop is harvested, to prevent the breeding of a hibernating generation; clean up and destroy all trash in and around fields and tobacco barns; do not follow potatoes by tobacco if the infestation of tobacco has been more severe in such cases than where different rotation was followed; grow potatoes as far as possible from tobacco fields.

HORSE THIEF IS PARTICULAR.

Lebanon, Ky.—Someone who evidently is difficult to please entered the barn of Edward Clark and stole a horse, a saddle and a bridle. After riding horseback a while the thief became tired and decided to change his mode of travel. At the barn of Mrs. Kate Glazebrook, a thief secured a set of harness and hitched the horse to one of Mrs. Glazebrook's buggies. A few miles further out the road the barn of Dave Hourigan was entered. There buggies were swapped, the man leaving the one belonging to Mrs. Glazebrook and taking one owned by Mr. Hourigan.

HOME WRECKED BY EXPLOSION.

Covington, Ky.—An explosion of gas wrecked the rear of the home of F. H. Behrens. The entire back wall of the second floor and part of the side wall were blown out. Bricks were hurled 100 feet, damaging other houses. Mrs. Behrens and her two children were thrown from their beds in the front part of the house, but escaped serious injury.

CORONER KILLED IN TAYLOR.

Campbellsville, Ky.—Lyle Matthews, coroner of Taylor county, was killed, and Charles Hays, a deputy, was seriously injured as a result of shots fired by Clevis and William Murray, it is charged. The shooting was the result of an attempt to dispossess the Murphys of the farm they occupied, which was recently sold to settle an estate.

WOULD-BE SUITORS PESTS.

Winchester, Ky.—Since the appearance recently of a picture and sketch of Miss Sadie Belle Flynn, of Winchester, it having been stated in the sketch that Miss Flynn had been bequeathed $25,000 upon the death of her benefactress, she has been annoyed by "love letters" from "mashers" and fortune hunters throughout the country.

SECOND DEATH FROM FIGHT.

Nicholasville, Ky.—James Bishop died in the county jail from the wounds he received in a fight at Wilmore. He was shot in the head. Bishop and his father, Boone Bishop, are alleged to have attacked Steve Sallee and Robert Gorum, Gorum being killed. James Bishop was shot through the head.

STOVE BURST, THREE HURT.

Versailles, Ky.—Oran H. Moore, a merchant, was burning trash in a stove when an explosion took place, and Moore, Luke Searcy and Clarence Dotson were seriously hurt. Moore was cut in the right eye and his sight destroyed. It is supposed the trash thrown into the stove contained a dynamite cap.

HORSE TRAINER IS KILLED.

Louisville, Ky.—Robert McKinley, 30 years old, a trotting-horse trainer, was stabbed to death by "Billy" Williams, 45 years old, a blacksmith, at the state fair grounds. The killing followed an argument over a bill.

FARMERS' CLUB ORGANIZED.

Elkton, Ky.—J. C. Baldwin, county farm demonstrator, has organized a farmers' club here with a charter membership of more than forty.

HONOR DONE EDUCATOR

House Committee Lauds the Work of Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart.

Louisville, Ky.—Kentuckians interested in education are proud of the honor accorded Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, of Morehead, by the house committee on education in a report to congress. The successful work of Mrs. Stewart in eradicating illiteracy from Rowan county through the medium of moonlight schools for adults is described, and she is pronounced one of the greatest educators of the United States. The report was in connection with the Lever bill for a commission to investigate illiteracy in the United States and study methods for its elimination. In reporting this bill favorably the committee described the work of Mrs. Stewart in Rowan county as the best example of the possibilities of ending illiteracy.

DELIVERY IS STOPPED

Tobacco Buyers Said To Have Lost Heavily in Marketing Weed.

Williamstown, Ky.—A local firm of tobacco dealers, who purchased about 500,000 pounds of burley tobacco in the north end of this county last fall before the tobacco was housed, have notified the growers from whom they purchased that they will be unable to receive any more of the crop, as their losses have been heavy. Their entire purchase averaged about 16 cents per pound, and has been bringing them about 11 cents, less the cost of shipping and selling, or averaging a loss of about 4 cents on the pound. They have received about half of their purchase.

CONTEST FOR JAIL DECIDED.

Manchester, Ky.—The long drawn-out contest between H. B. Marcum and Joseph Lewis over the jailer's office in Clay county was decided in favor of the contestee, Joseph Lewis. Marcum was declared the legal Republican nominee in a hotly contested primary election. Lewis then filed a petition and ran independently. There was but a slight difference between the vote, but Lewis was given the election certificate. Marcum instituted a contest and on an official recount of the ballot Lewis won by fourteen majority.

KILLED BY CINDER FUMES.

Maysville, Ky.—Albert Atkins, 23, of Maysville, met death in a peculiar manner near Garretson. In company with his brother, Louis Atkins, and Robert Ford, he was seeking employment. Overtaken by nightfall the three men lay down on a large heap of ashes and cinders dumped from engines. During the night a train crew discovered the men, all of whom were overcome with fumes from the warm ashes. They rendered first aid and Louis Atkins and Ford were restored to consciousness, but Albert Atkins died.

WOMAN'S JURY DISAGREES.

Carlisle, Ky.—The trial of Elizabeth Booker in the Nicholas circuit court on a charge of murder resulted in a hung jury. The defendant was accused of shooting and killing George Price. Her defense was that she was awakened by a noise, mistook Price for a burglar and fired the shot that killed him.

ODD GROUNDS OF ACTION.

Bowling Green, Ky.—Suit for $10,000 damages has been brought in the Warren circuit court by H. J. Briggs against the L. & N. The plaintiff alleges that while he was employed by the Simpson county Limestone company at its plant an engine and several cars ran into the plant causing some machinery to fall and cripple him.

SUITS AGAINST "DUMPERS."

Hopkinsville, Ky.—At a meeting of the Christian county branch of the Planters' Protective association W. T. Fowler, its attorney was instructed to bring suit against all members who had sold tobacco pledged to the organization.

EXPLOSION KILLS TWO MEN.

Manchester, Ky.—Robert Hayre and Farris Pennington were killed, Thomas Hayre and his 11-year-old son, Dan Cox, and Robert Hampton were injured, all probably fatally in a boiler explosion at the mill of Thomas Hayre, near Urban.

DEATON CHARGES PERJURY.

Winchester, Ky.—Fletcher Deaton, when told in the county jail of the action of the court of appeals in sustaining his conviction for the murder of Ed Callahan, still maintained he was convicted on perjured testimony.

A NEW COALING PLANT.

Paris, Ky.—Plans have been perfected by the L. & N. for the expenditure of $45,000 for a coaling plant to replace that in the south yards here. It will have a capacity of 12,500 tons and three engines can be coaled simultaneously. Equipment will be installed to unload coal as well as to convey from the hoppers to the chutes. The L. & N. uses 500 tons of coal daily at the local coaling station and this amount will be greatly increased within the next few months.

OUTLAWS CAUGHT

TO BE PUBLICLY EXECUTED IN JUAREZ—AMERICANS INVITED TO WITNESS KILLING.

Bandit Castillo and His Gang Captured at a Ranch—Accused of Causing Train Horror.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

El Paso, Texas.—Maximo Castillo and his band of outlaws were captured at Gabalin ranch by a detachment of rebel soldiers, under command of Maj. Samanlego, who came up from El Valle, according to a report brought by courier. The whole band will be brought to Casas Grandes, it is stated. Gen. Castillo was previously reported to be hiding in the vicinity of the ranch and constitutionalist soldiers from Madera, Pearson, Casas Grandes and El Valle have been pursuing him. When Gen. Villa heard of the capture he said:

"I hope it is true. If it is the entire band will be brought to Juarez and publicly executed. Every American and every citizen of Mexico will be invited to attend the execution."

MOB ATTACKS JAPANESE HOUSE.

Tokyo.—A riotous mob attacked the Japanese house of parliament. It was driven back by the police only after the entrance gates had been broken down and scores of persons injured. The rioting followed a big mass meeting at which resolutions were adopted to impeach the cabinet for its attitude in connection with the graft charges against Japanese naval officers, several of whom are accused of having received commissions for influencing the awarding of admiralty contracts in favor of a German firm.

DESTROYER BREAKS RECORD.

Washington.—A new record for long-distance steaming has been established by the new torpedo boat destroyer Alwyn, which reported to the Navy Department the completion of the 1,400 mile voyage from Newport, R. I., to Guantanamo, Cuba, in 69 hours. The destroyer is commanded by Lieutenant Commander Palmer, until recently aid to the Secretary of the Navy.

FIVE REPORTED DROWNED.

New Orleans, La.—It is reported that five persons were drowned when the river packet Gem burned in the Mississippi river at Hahnville, 40 miles up the river. A long-distance telephone message from Frederick Ketchum, who said he was a mate on the Gem, said the identity or exact number of those drowned could not be determined.

FLYING MACHINES COLLIDE.

Johannisthal, Germany.—A midair collision between a biplane and a monoplane over the aerodrome here caused the death of one German aviator and serious injuries to two others. Gerhard Sedlmayer, an experienced aviator, was flying his biplane, carrying as his passenger Lieut. Leonhardt, of the German army. Both machines fell, and when the mass were extracted from the wreckage it was found that Degner was dead and the other two were gravely hurt.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

BORN FEBRUARY 12, 1809. DIED APRIL 15, 1865.

LINCOLN'S LIFE
AN INSPIRATION

Why He Will for All Time Be Numbered With the Greatest of the Earth.

HERE are characters so great that their memorials are tributes to those who read them. It is so with Abraham Lincoln. To preserve a fame that is undying, the appropriation by congress of $2,000,000 was not needed. As proof of a nation's grateful appreciation it was wise and generous.

We hear much these days of philosophy, most of it not understandable. There are societies that study profoundly and profess to comprehend. These circles are small and the results that they gain are uncertain.

But the philosophy of a life like Lincoln's takes hold upon millions; it abides in the hearts and minds of men; it influences nations; it inspires whole races. In comparison with it what other is worth while?

Born in wretched poverty, an ill-favored child upon whom and whose parents our learned professors would have frowned, and always poor, he had been numbered with the greatest of the earth.

Never in his lifetime regarded as an orator, he is enrolled among the most gifted pleaders of all ages.

Never educated, never widely read, never a traveler, he is conceded to have been one of the wisest of men.

Never a trained soldier, he commanded in war greater armies than any monarch or general.

Never having had more than local celebrity as a lawyer, he had conceptions of justice that were unknown to distinguished jurists of his time.

Never assuming to be a statesman or an economist, and never until his call to the presidency a successful manager of any enterprise, he became a ruler who will be celebrated forever for wisdom, sagacity and firmness.

Never the author of a verse, he has given us poetry in prose that is imperishable.

The humblest, the least assertive of men, it fell to him in an hour of crushing responsibility as commander-in-chief, by the sovereign stroke of a pen, to put human slavery in the way of extinction.

There is no obscurity in the philosophy of such a life. It touches every human being, high or low, rich or poor, wise or simple, strong or weak. It is the flesh and blood life, the life of struggle, sorrow and achievement. Its lessons are for all.

What have Science, Reason and recorded Theory to offer in place of such a life? Nothing but words, most of them meaningless!

Concert Singer Tells How Abraham Lincoln Helped to Move Her Piano.

WHEN court was in session in Decatur, Ill., Judge Davis presided. Court week was always looked for with great interest by the people of the county seat. It was customary for the entire bar of the district to follow the court from county to county; but although most of the lawyers traveled to only three or four counties, Judge Davis, Mr. Lincoln, and Leonard Swett went the whole circuit; Davis because he had to, Lincoln because he loved it, and Swett because he loved their company.

It was in court week that my piano arrived in Decatur. The wagon backed up to the steps of the Macon house, where I was staying, but the question how to unload it puzzled the landlord. Just then the court adjourned and a crowd appeared. The men gathered curiously around the wagon that blocked the entrance.

"There is a piano in that box that this woman here wants some one to help unload," explained the landlord. "Who will lend a hand?"

A tall gentleman stepped forward, and throwing off a gray Scotch shawl, said, "Come on, Swett, you are the next biggest man!"

That was my first meeting with Abraham Lincoln.

Mr. Lincoln went into the basement where the landlord had a carpenter shop, and returned with two heavy timbers across his shoulders. With them he made a slide between the wagon and the front doorsteps. He got the piano unloaded, with the assistance of Mr. Linder and Mr. Swett, amid the jokes of the crowd.

Before they had screwed the legs into place, dinner was announced, and the men hurried to the back porch, where there were two tin wash basins, a long roller towel and a coarse comb for the guests.

After dinner Mr. Lincoln superintended the setting up of the piano, and even saw to it that it stood square in the center of the wall space. He received my thanks with a polite bow, and asked, "Do you intend to follow court and give concerts?" The immense relief expressed on his countenance when I assured him that he would not be called upon to move the piano again was very amusing.

"Then may we have one tune before we go?" he asked, and I played "Rosa the Bow," with variations.

Some one shouted: "Come on, boys, the judge will be waiting!" After I had assured them that, if they desired it, I would give my "first and only concert on this circuit" when they returned to the hotel in the evening, the crowd dispersed.

That night I played and sang numerous songs, all of which met with applause. As a finale I sang "He Doeth All Things Well," after which Mr. Lincoln, in a very grave manner, thanked me for the evening's entertainment, and said: "Don't let us spoil that song by any other music to-night."

Many times afterward I sang that song for Mr. Lincoln; he was always fond of it.—Mrs. J. M. John's "Personal Recollections."

NINE AMERICANS DIE BURDEN ON FARMER

TRAIN PLUNGES INTO TUNNEL SET AFIRE BY BANDITS—FORTY MEXICANS PERISH.

BRYAN GETS REBEL GUARD

Has Consul Send Troops Ahead of United States Men Seeking Bodies of Victims—Huerta's Men Slay American Millionaire.

Cumbre, Chihuahua, Feb. 10.—Many charred bones and several metal buttons and buckles from clothing were the only traces discovered of the bodies of the 40 passengers and crew of the train wrecked in the Cumbre tunnel of the Mexico & Northwestern railway Wednesday night.

A rescue party equipped with oxygen helmets to guard them against the effects of the smoke and fumes of the still smoldering wreckage made their way from the south portal of the tunnel, over the wreckage of the burned freight train to the locomotive and forward cars of the passenger train on Sunday. Nothing remained of the cars but the metal frames and trucks, and it is believed that the bodies of the imprisoned passengers must have been completely destroyed by the intense heat.

The crew of the freight train escaped and placed the blame on Castillo's bandits.

Juarez, Feb. 10.—Nine Americans and 40 or more Mexicans, whose fate has been a mystery since the burning of the Cumbre tunnel by bandits, were suffocated. The tragedy is ascribed to Maximino Castillo, bandit leader. A special train carrying 20 Americans, led by W. J. Farragut, 50 coffins and a rescue outfit left Juarez for the scene. The rescue train was prepared early in the evening, but was delayed a short time by a telegram from Secretary of State Bryan, who instructed Consul Edwards to see that a soldier guard preceded it so that the Americans aboard might be protected from possible attack by Castillo. General Benavides provided 300 rebel troops and these were sent ahead of the rescue party on another train.

The exact number of persons aboard the passenger train is not known. First reports put the number at 35, but a request for 75 coffins was made by a searching party led by Dr. F. C. Herr of Madera.

Railroad men are furious at Castillo's act. Tuesday 22 of his men were captured and executed by rebels. The next day, apparently in revenge, he captured a freight train, ran it into the south end of the tunnel about 300 feet and set it on fire, but gave railway men no warning. The passenger train, whose crew was ignorant of danger, entered the death trap from the north while the tunnel was burning. When the engineer discovered the trap it was too late to save his train or passengers. The missing Americans, all employees of the railroad, were: M. J. Gilmartin, superintendent of the Chihuahua division; B. Schofield, superintendent of terminals at Juarez; Lee Williams, assistant manager of commissary; H. F. Marders, express agent; E. J. McCutcheon, engineer; J. E. Webster, conductor; Edward Morris, roadmaster; Thomas Kelly, conductor, and James Burgess.

New York, Feb. 10.—Myles Dobson, American millionaire and owner of oil lands in Mexico, is reported to have been executed by Huerta's troops. Mr. Dobson recently urged intervention in Mexico on President Wilson.

City of Mexico, Feb. 10.—Troops guarded the palace, the arsenal and the artillery barracks on Saturday as a result of reports in the shape of a new revolt in the city against the government of General Huerta. The secret police gathered in several clerks and business men alleged to have been connected with the anti-government conspiracy.

SENATE VOTES BIG WAR FUND

Increases Are Made to Meet Possible Estimate for Army of 500,000 Men.

Washington, Feb. 11.—The senate passed the fortification appropriation bill carrying $6,895,200 and materially increasing the house appropriations for artillery and ammunition. Senator Bryan said the increases were made to meet as nearly as possible the estimate for an army of 500,000 men.

"If there are only 75,000 men in the army now, why should we have an army of 500,000 men?" asked Senator Sheppard.

"So as to be prepared for war," replied Senator Bryan. "While we had only 20,000 men operating around Santiago in the Spanish-American war, we had about 250,000 men enlisted. With this allowance of guns America still would have fewer guns per man than any other first class power. We would have about the same proportion as Bulgaria and Serbia. We should remember it takes years to make these guns."

U. S. Army Aviator Killed.

San Diego, Cal., Feb. 11.—Lieut. H. B. Post, of the Wright camp of the aero corps, U. S. A., fell 500 feet into the bay and was instantly killed. Lieutenant Post was taken from the bay dead half an hour after he fell.

Senate Body Favors Lobinger.

Washington, Feb. 11.—The nomination of Charles S. Lobinger of Nebraska, named by President Wilson to be judge of the United States consular court in China, was reported favorably by the senate judiciary committee.

Chief Sufferer Under the New Democratic Tariff.

Cost of Living Has Not Been Cut, Despite Assertions Made—"Middlemen" Seem to Be the Ones to Be Congratulated.

The new American tariff is still in process of going into effect, if the readjustment of other tariffs in order to take advantage of our home markets, thrown open to foreign wares is to be taken into consideration. Shipments of Argentine corn, which caused a break of ten cents a bushel at Chicago, are to be supplemented by cargoes of wheat, which also comes in free, now that that article of produce is on the free list as the result of our South American rival taking the duty off our wheat. The difference in price is favorable to heavy imports, and our wheat markets instantly reflected the fact by taking a sharp downward turn.

Additional to wheat and corn, Argentine meat packers are now making regular shipments to our Atlantic ports, and one large house at Buenos Aires has acquired extensive terminal facilities at New York, apparently in the belief that the new conditions will be permanent.

However, Canada is the principal beneficiary up to date, her exports of cattle and other articles having more than doubled in value since October. Cattle and oats have been the principal gainers, but if the Canadians pattern after Argentine in taking their tariff off our wheat the latter article will enter into fierce rivalry with our own. Cattle are coming from Mexico in increasing numbers, despite the war, so that it happens to our surprise that not the old world, but the new, is the principal source of the increase in our food supply which was to cut down the cost of living, but has not as yet made a dent in it, and also that the American farmer, more than the manufacturer, has to stand the brunt of foreign competition.

In face of actual conditions and developments under the new tariff, the authors of that measure state that they are in receipt of thousands of letters from small traders telling of the better results they secure under revision. But "small traders" are middlemen, not consumers. The latter are forced to pay higher prices than before, and of which goes to the enrichment of the very class the new tariff was to put the screws on. Therefore, if the middleman is the gainer at the expense of the consumer, instead of the contrary, by what mental route do the high priests of low tariff arrive at the conclusion that the results achieved fulfill their promises?

Can This Help Farming?

Now that the new tariff law is in full effect, except as to the delayed complete abolition of the duty on sugar, and one or two other clauses, papers in this part of the country which championed such tariff reductions as have been written into the national statutes are beginning to ask whether the best sugar industry of northern Ohio is doomed. They publish figures which indicate that $5,000,000 invested in sugar mills and machinery will have to find some other use, if any part of this capital can be saved. It seems probable that 45,000 acres devoted to the growing of sugar beets will have to be otherwise employed.

Can this sort of thing go on in many states, not merely in one corner of Ohio, without affecting American agriculture adversely? Is it possible to kill such an industry as the making of sugar from beets has grown to be and still benefit the farmers of the United States? Is it reasonable to suppose that the effect of the tariff will be favorable to country life—that basic interest which is so much discussed at present and is made the subject of deep solicitude by men who have done their utmost to put the present law and the books—when it narrows the range of crops and curtails the opportunities for profit in agriculture?

Another Spoils Raid.

So President Wilson is "exceedingly displeased" about the spoils raid on assistant postmasterships through another of those "vicious riders" to an appropriation bill.

His "displeasure" will hardly amount to much unless he translates it into the form of a positive threat of a veto.

He has already signed two such spoils bills—doubtless in order to keep the so-called "wonderful control" only congress which enabled him to put through his legislation. That control has been largely purchased by these concessions to spoils which have already gone far to break down the merit system.

But if the president is at the eleventh hour becoming restive under the demands of the spoilsmen, much may still be done by way of salvage of that system.

Repeating History.

Secretary Bryan's "money plot" is the most sensational that has been discovered in this country since T. R. unearthed his celebrated $5,000,000 conspiracy banquet at Pittsburgh on the eve of the Harriman disclosures.—Boston Transcript.

THOUGHT IT KAISER'S ORDER

Expansion of Mysterious Star Raised Above Cross on Roof of Church in Berlin.

An illustration of the deference paid to the Kaiser's wishes in even the minutest details, the following story is told of the star above the cross on the spire of the Emperor William Memorial church:

As the Kaiser insisted on revising the plans of the church, the architect brought the plans to him, and the Kaiser scribbled out what he did not like, and made such additions as he fancied before he gave them the imperial approval. The church was built. There was to be a big gilt cross on the spire, and it appeared in its proper place. But, much to the general astonishment, when the cross was put up a large, many-pointed star was raised above it on a heavy rod. The Berliners did not understand the star. They inquired, and the architect said the Kaiser had added the star to the plans.

The plans were examined. Then it was found that in revising them the Kaiser had let fall a drop of ink from his pen on the paper just above the cross. The architect studied a long time over this blot of ink. There could be no appeal, no inquiries. He finally decided that the blot of ink signified a star above the cross, and he put the star there, making it correspond as nearly as possible to the outline of the blot. The star is still there.

ITCHING TERRIBLE ON LIMB

R. F. D. No. 3, Clarkfield, Minn.—"My trouble was of long standing. It started with some small red and yellow spots about the size of a pin head on my leg and every morning there was a dry scale on top covering the affected part and when those scales were falling off the itching was more than I could stand at times. The first year I did not mind it so much as it was only itching very badly at times, but the second year it advanced all around my leg and the itching was terrible. I had to be very careful to have my clothing around the affected part very loose. At night time I often happened to scratch the sore in my sleep. Then I had to stand up, get out of bed and walk the floor till the spell was over."

"I bought lots of salves and tried many different kinds of medicine but without any success. I got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a fifty-cent box of Cuticura Ointment and when I had used them I was nearly over the itching. But I kept on with the Cuticura Soap for six weeks and the cure was complete." (Signed) S. O. Gorden, Nov. 20, 1912.
